Clarification # 1

Question 1:

“As we prepare our Expression of Interest, we would be grateful for some clarification on one aspect of the procurement process. Specifically, once the additional Terms of Reference are released, are parties who have submitted an EOI required to submit a formal Request for Proposal (RFP) response, or is this a separate step at each party's discretion? Understanding this would help us plan our resources appropriately and ensure we meet all necessary requirements”

Answer 1:

Please note that the purpose of submitting an Expression of Interest (EOI) is to enable the Contracting Authority to evaluate the qualifications of interested companies and to prepare a shortlist, in accordance with the World Bank's Procurement Regulations.

If your company is selected for the shortlist, you will subsequently be invited to submit a proposal upon receipt of the Request for Proposals (RFP), which will include the Terms of Reference and other tender documents.

Receipt of the invitation to submit a proposal does not imply an obligation to respond to the RFP. The decision to submit a proposal or not rests solely with the invited company.
